Faculty/Departmental Orientation for New Students

Head of departments have been mandated to speedily organize a 2hour Orientation briefing for their respective students. Faculty of Law is expected to also do likewise.

The Organisation of Faculty or Departmental based Orientation is a necessity, particularly at the moment when admission is still in progress and those who have settled down among the newly admitted students need to be guided and indoctrinated into the culture and philosophy of the University.

Since the Campus-wide general Orientation has been slated for the end of November, the departmental based orientation is expected to bridge the information gap particularly on how students should go about their registration and get familiarised with the people and processes in their respective departments.

All concerned HODs are to conduct this all important students meeting between Monday 2nd of November and Friday 6th of November, 2020.

Students and Staff: Beware of kidnappers

Just last week, one of our Students narrowly escaped from hands of kidnappers when he boarded a taxi popularly known as Micra, from Fola Fuel Station to his residence in Boluwaji. The two men sitting at the back of the car suddenly pounced on him as soon as he entered the car while the driver quickly increased the acceleration. The student struggled with the men and jumped out of the vehicle with a resultant body injuries.

The University management uses this opportunity to reiterate that staff and students are forbidden from the Fola fuel station axis. Any student caught in the web of criminality being perpetrated in that forbidden axis faces rustication and any member of staff caught around that axis will face the university disciplinary action.

Important Notice to Staff & Students

1. Students in residency are not allowed to come in to or leave the campus as from 8:00pm
2. All faculty offices will be locked up by 10:00pm

Movement Restriction for Hostelites

This is to notify all hostelites that henceforth there shall be no exit from campus without documented approval from the management. There have been reported cases of reckless movements of hostelites outside the University premises without due approvals. Also, some students are in the habit of engaging in multiple social gatherings at relaxation joints/business ventures around the University community which pose great danger and pandemic threats as this is clearly against Covid-19 safety guidelines.
